[Text] Explanatory Notes

I. The Third National Population Census has been conducted in the People's Republic of China based on the decision of the Chinese Communist Party and the State Council. Beginning at the end of 1979, preparatory work was conducted for the census and the entire enumeration started on 1 July 1982 (the reference time for the national population census is 0 hour of 1 July 1982). Under the unified leadership of the party committees and the people's governments at all levels and with the active support of the people of all nationalities, it has been proved by the post-enumeration check that the results of the census enumeration has met the requirements of high quality. On 27 October 1982, the State Statistical Bureau issued the results of the manual tabulation for the census in the "Communique of the State Statistical Bureau of the People's Republic of China on the Major Figures of the 1982 National Population Census." Figures included in the communique are the total population, sex structure, structure of nationalities, population by educational level, birth rate and death rate in 1981, total population in cities and towns and distribution of population by area, etc. In December 1982, the China Statistical Publishing House published and put on sale the booklet "The Major Figures of the China Third National Population Census," which included the above-mentioned major figures by province, municipality and autonomous region.

II. According to Article 22 of the "Statute of the Third National Population Census," the machine tabulation of the census data is divided into two phases: first, the advanced sample tabulation, which has already been done; second, the overall tabulation, which is ongoing.

III. This material contains the results of the advanced sample tabulation which is based on the method of random and cluster sampling (for details, see the annex "Specific Rules for the Advanced Sample Tabulation of the Third National Population Census"), and 10 percent of the production teams and residents groups (normally in each team or group there are 50 households, or about 200 persons) have been selected throughout the country. The selected 10 percent samples have been processed by computers. The total sample size covers a population of 100,380,000 in 659,759 production teams and residents groups.

IV. The quality of the 10 percent advanced sample tabulation results is fairly high. It is acceptable if the error rate of data entry for total items is lower than .1 percent, the standard set by the state. The error rates for total items in most of the provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions have been reduced to under .01 percent and a few provinces to under .02 percent, and even the highest error rate is much lower than the allowable error standard defined by the state because the 100 percent verification was based on the 10 percent advanced sample tabulation data. According to the state-defined standard for a computer logical check, it is acceptable if the error rate for the total record is lower than 2 percent. The statistics prove that the error rate for total records is only .41 percent and the data on brigades and neighborhood committees that failed in the computer logical check and were sent back to the brigades and neighborhood committees only account for .44 percent of the data passed on to the brigades and neighborhood committees.

V. This material is compiled and published based on the tables defined in "Formats of Tables of the Computer Tabulation in the Third National Population Census." The major figures of the 10 percent advanced sample tabulation on age, industry and occupation of the employed population, status of the non-working population, marital status and female fertility status, etc. in 29 provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions, and the cross-classification and comparison between the above-mentioned items have been added to this material in addition to the items included in the manual tabulation.

The data on deaths by age have not been tabulated in the 10 percent advanced sample tabulation because it is a case survey, so they are not available in this material. Data on deaths by age in 10 provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions are attached to this material.

For comparison purposes, the main manual tabulations of the 1982 census in China are attached in the annex.

VI. In this material the population is measured or counted by head and the number of households by household. This is done because figures are rounded out if the total number listed in this material is not equal to the second decimal place of the related elements.

VII. Note on symbols:

"__" indicates that the figure is not available.

"..." indicates that the value is too small.

3. Error Status in Computer Data Processing Work (10 Percent Sample Tabulation)

Item	State-allowed Error Rate	National Real-average Error Rate
1. Data Processing Quality (o/ooo)
Error Rate of Total Items	10.00	1.11
Error Rate of Items on Age	10.00	2.10
Error Rate of Items on Sex	6.00	1.11
Error Rate of Items on Nationalities	6.00	0.92
2. Quality of Checking Machine logic in Data Processing Phase (o/oo)
Error Rate of Total Items	20.00 (30.00)	0.45
Error Rate of Items	2.00 (5.00)	0.04
Ratio of "Thermal" Correction Items	0.30 (3.00)	0.0022

Note: 1. After a check by the computer in accordance with editing regulations, the production brigades which do not meet any of the 3 quality standards of a computer logical check during the data processing phase must be reprocessed following a re-check. These production brigades account for 1.2 percent of the total number of production brigades.

2. Figures in parentheses are the originally specified standards.

4. Specific Rules for the Advanced Sample Tabulation of the Third National Population Census

A. In order to obtain in advance detailed data on various items from the Third National Population census and to furnish as soon as possible the data to the various levels of leadership for the formulation of policies and plans, these specific rules have been drawn up in accordance with Article 22 of the "Statute of the Third National Census."

B. The population census group offices of the provincial, prefectural and county (city) people's governments must set up advanced sample tabulation teams.

Sample taking and coding work must be organized, centralized and carried out by the county (city) population census offices. The population census offices at the provincial and prefectural levels are responsible for guiding and checking the advanced sample tabulation work at the county (city) level.

C. The sample units for advanced sample tabulation teams: These units, which are based on the production teams (residents groups) in the county (city), take samples from 10 percent of the production teams (residents groups) in the whole county to be used as samples for the advanced sample tabulation.

Collective households must be included in the advanced sample tabulation.

D. Time for the sample tabulation: The sample tabulation starts after the completion of manual tabulation in the county (city) and is to be completed in 2 days.

E. Methods and steps for sampling:

The method of random and cluster sampling is to be employed. The specific steps are as follows:

(1) Arranging census books of tables: Census tables of the entire county (city) based on production teams (residents groups) and collective households are to be bound in book form. In accordance with the sequence of address codes and in breaking the demarcation line of the communes, production brigades and neighborhood committees, uniformly and in proper order, sequential numbers will be compiled.

(2) Selecting the number that has been drawn: By means of drawing lots, select 1 number from among 10 numbers ("1" to "10"). For instance, when "6" is drawn, starting from the sixth production team (residents group, collective household), pick out 1 from every other 10 production teams--namely, and all production teams with "6" as the single number in the number of sequence, such as 6, 16, 26, 36, 46..., will be selected.

(3) Sampling: Pick out the census form of the selected production team (resident group, collective household) and set it aside separately and stamp on the cover with a red seal that has such fairly large characters as "advanced sample." Special attention must be directed to this: do not mix this census form of the selected advanced sample tabulation with the non-advanced sample tabulation census form.

The census form of the selected production team (residents group, collective household), which has been picked out in a drawing by the county (city) population office, must be kept in the census form package of the various production teams and neighborhood committees concerned, together with an "advanced sample tabulation unit card."

(4) Drawing up a list of selected units: To facilitate control and prevent loss, it is necessary to draw up a "list of units selected for advanced sample tabulation."

F. Coding the advanced sample tabulation data: After drawing out the census form of advanced sample tabulation, the county (city) population census office shall immediately proceed in doing the coding. After the coding is completed and is declared up to standard following a check on the sample quality, the census form, which is encoded to be used in the advanced sample tabulation, shall be delivered to the census data banks of the provincial, municipal and autonomous region census offices before the end of September 1982, so as to facilitate entry and data processing.

G. After processing the advanced sample data, the electronic computer stations in the provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions shall submit to the Population Census Office of the State Council a copy of the advanced sample tabulation processing results before the end of June 1983 in accordance with the "Formats and Tables of Machine Tabulation" drawn by the Office of the State Council's Population Census Leading Group for use in the advanced sample tabulation. They will also deliver the magnetic tapes of the advanced sample tabulation data to the State Planning Commission and the State Statistical Bureau's Electronic Computer Center to be tabulated.

In the course of data processing, the population census offices and electronic computer stations (centers) must, in accordance with the stipulations concerning the division of responsibility, cooperate closely with other units, take the initiative and coordinate with one another. When necessary, the county (city) population census offices concerned will send people to answer questions on the spot.

H. After tabulating the advanced sample tabulation data from the various provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions and the State Planning Commission, the State Statistical Bureau's Electronic Computer Center shall present before the end of September 1983 all the results from the advanced sample tabulation data processing to the Population Census Leading Group's Office of the State Council in accordance with the "Formats of Tables of Machine Tabulation" drawn up by the Office of the Population Census Leading Group under the State Council.

I. After examining and verifying the advanced sample tabulation data, the Office of the Population Census Leading Group under the State Council shall present a report to the State Council before the end of October 1983.
